

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

BOOK-KEEPING.

INTRODUCTION.

BOOK-KEEPING is a mercantile term, used to denote the method of keeping accounts of all kinds, in such a manner that a person may at any time know the true state of his affairs.

Every person, engaged in business for himself, should keep a book of some kind in which to record all his business transactions. The day-laborer, the farmer, and the mechanic, should keep an account with every person with whom they deal. No one should trust transactions of a pecuniary nature to his memory alone.

The merchant, who is incompetent to keep a full and accurate record of his business transactions, or neglects to do it, must abandon all claims to the confidence which he might desire others to repose in him; all hope of success in the accumulation of property; and forego all peace of mind, which he might otherwise enjoy in the prosecution of his business.

How would economy and real enterprise be promoted—how much disaffection and contention among neighbors, and how many vexatious lawsuits would be avoided, if every one would keep a true account with every person with whom he transacts business!

Book-keeping should be more extensively taught in our schools. Among the many books already published on this subject, none are well adapted to, and very few, if any, are intended for, the use of common schools. Hence, this important study is almost entirely neglected by those who attend such schools only, and pursued by but few who attend those of a higher grade.

Many, indeed, think that the study of Book-keeping is useless, unless pursued in the counting-room, or in connection with the actual business of buying and selling. This is a great mistake. Book-keeping is one of the most important branches of study that can be pursued by those of suitable age and attainments in our schools of every grade. It is a highly important branch of female education, and should be ranked next in the course of study, and next in importance, to reading, writing, and arithmetic. As well might a person postpone the study of arithmetic, until he has occasion to cast the interest on a note, or to use a knowledge of figures for any other purpose, as to defer the study of Book-keeping till he has the cares of actual business on his mind. In fact, while the pupil is pursuing this study, he is applying the principles of arithmetic in a most practical manner. He is gaining discipline of mind—as much, at least, as by any other study. He is learning to spell the names of a great many articles in commerce, which would not otherwise come under his notice. He is, or may be, improving his style of penmanship, especially when, as in this work, all the items, which he is required to copy, are printed in a beautiful script type. By taking such a view of the subject, we are led unhesitatingly to assert, that the schoolroom is the place to study Book-keeping; and with a suitable teacher and text-book, a thorough knowledge of it can be obtained there.

Such a text-book the Authors confidently believe they now submit to the public.

The work is divided into three parts. Part First embraces three forms, or methods, of keeping accounts, adapted to the use of particular classes of individuals, and suited to the different capacities of students.

After each form is a practical exercise, designed to test the learner's knowledge of the form he has just passed through, and which cannot fail to give as thorough and practical a knowledge of Book-keeping as could possibly be obtained in a counting-room.

The following are some of the advantages of the "Merchants' Form" over that generally used by them, where the Journal is a mere copy of the Day-Book or Blotter, and where each entry, or all those on the same page of the Journal, are separately posted :

It saves more than one-third of the writing in journalizing. It saves at least three-fourths the labor in posting. It requires but twelve lines in the Ledger to post a year's business, while in the ordinary way as many pages may be necessary. In settling with a person at the end of a year, you have only to refer back to twelve places in the Journal to show him all the items of his account, whereas in the ordinary manner of keeping books you might have to refer to five hundred.

Other advantages might be named, but these are deemed sufficient to mention here.

Part Second contains a clear and comprehensive exposition of the principles of Double Entry, exemplified in two sets of books, the second of which is peculiarly adapted to a retail business ; and as double entry is the only method that can be relied on for accuracy, it is confidently believed that this form of books, when known, will be generally adopted by that class of merchants for whom it is designed.

The Third Part was prepared by a member of the bar, and the authorities consulted, and from which the rules here laid down were collected (in addition to the reports of our Supreme Courts), are Story's, Chitty's, and Byle's elaborate and scientific treatises upon bills and notes.

This part consists of rules of evidence and general rules of law, in relation to bills of exchange, promissory and chattel notes, checks, books of account, &c., together with a large number of forms useful to all classes of business men ; such as bonds, deeds, mortgages, bills of sale, powers of attorney, bills of exchange, notes, receipts, &c., &c.

The necessity of a work of this kind to persons having anything to do with notes or bills, is manifest.

Thousands of dollars have been lost and squandered in litigation, simply from an ignorance of the meaning and effect of a single word contained in a promissory note ; and thousands, too, have been wasted through ignorance, on the part of business men, of some of the plainest rights and duties of the parties to such a note.

A knowledge of a tenth part of the law in reference to notes and bills would have saved many a man from bankruptcy and poverty.

The obligations of the different parties to a note or a bill are here clearly explained, so that a person with this book can easily ascertain his rights and duties, as drawer, acceptor, indorser, indorsee, payee, &c., of a bill of exchange or a promissory note.

The rules in reference to chattel notes and books of account will also be very useful to the business man, especially the farmer and mechanic.

With these explanatory remarks the authors cast this work into that mighty stream issuing from the press, believing that it is not so trashy as to float with its froth, nor so incomprehensibly profound as to sink in its mire.

ROCHESTER, January, 1851.

TO THE PUPIL.

As you begin this study, let it be your fixed determination to excel. A good knowledge of the principles of Book-keeping, and skill to apply them in real business, will be the most effectual means which you can employ to gain a ready passport to respectable and lucrative situations. Such acquirements, with diligence, perseverance, fidelity, and an uncompromising integrity, will be your most valuable capital.

1. Be careful to spell all your words correctly; mistakes here will awaken suspicions that you are careless in other respects.

2. Cultivate a legible and elegant style of penmanship. This work is prepared with special reference to this, as every thing which you are required to copy furnishes a specimen for your imitation in the art of penmanship.

3. Make yourself familiar with the most concise, perspicuous, and business-like forms of expression in recording all your transactions.

4. Do every thing with the same attention to accuracy, neatness, and order, as would be important in actual business. It is only in this way, that you will be sure to form correct business habits.

BOOK-KEEPING.

5. When you enter upon business, see that your books are kept up promptly with all the transactions of the establishment, and that they contain, in sufficient detail, a plain and truthful record of all your pecuniary affairs.

PART FIRST.

FORM FOR FARMERS.

THIS Form requires but one book, in which two pages opposite each other are appropriated for each individual account. The name of the person should be written in a bold hand at the top of the page, and the letters Dr. at the right of the name on the left-hand page, and Cr. at the right of the name on the right-hand page. Each page should be divided by perpendicular lines into five spaces, the first for the month, the second for the day of the month, the third for the items, the fourth and fifth for dollars and cents. Whenever you trust the person with any thing, the date, name, and value of the thing should be placed on the left-hand or debit page; and whenever he pays or trusts you with any thing, the date, name, and value in dollars and cents should be placed on the right-hand or credit page of his account.

For example, if, on the first day of January, 1848, you sell I. H. Jameson five bushels of wheat at one dollar and twenty-five cents a bushel, and on the fifteenth day of February following he pays you four dollars; on the fourth day of March you sell him twelve pounds of butter at fifteen cents per pound, eighteen pounds of cheese at eight cents per pound, and ten bushels of oats at thirty-one cents per bushel; and on the first day of May he pays you cash five dollars,—the entries would be as follows:

Isaac H. Jameson Dr.

Jan.	1	To 5 Bush. Wheat	1.25	6 25
Mar.	4	" 12 lbs. Butter	.45	1 80
"	"	" 18 " Cheese	.8	1 44
"	"	" 10 Bush. Oats	.31	3 10

All the accounts should be kept in the above manner, and on the first day of January, or of some other month, in each year, should be settled, and the book balanced.

In settling with a person, if he pays you in cash, or gives you his note to balance his account, give him credit accordingly. If you pay him cash, or give him your note to balance, charge him accordingly. If the account is not balanced by cash paid, or note given, it should be done by giving the person credit, or charging him with enough to balance it. For instance, if you find that he is owing you, give him credit for the amount "By Balance," and charge the same to him in the new account. If, on the other hand, you find that you are owing him, make him debit for the amount "To Balance," and credit him with the same in the new account.

The first account on the following pages is with a merchant, and is explained on the same pages.

The second is an account with a dealer in boots and shoes, and kept in the same manner as the one with the merchant. You find, on settlement, that he owes you four dollars and twelve cents. You then give him credit "By Balance" for that amount; and after adding up the columns, and drawing the lines as before directed, you make him debtor "To Balance" in a new account opened on the same page.

The third is an account with a day-laborer. On settlement, you find that you owe him thirteen dollars and fifty-two cents, which you pay in cash, and balance the account accordingly.

The fourth is an account with a harness-maker. On settlement, you find that you owe him seventeen dollars and ten cents, for which you give him your note payable in six months, and balance the account accordingly.

The fifth is an account with a hired man. On settlement, you find that you owe him forty dollars and sixty-nine cents, of which you pay in cash fifteen dollars and sixty-nine cents, and give your note for twenty-five dollars, due in three months, and balance the account accordingly.

The sixth is an account with a blacksmith. On settlement, you find that you owe him five dollars fifty-four cents, which you pay in cash, and balance the account accordingly.

The seventh is an account with a merchant tailor. On settlement, you find that you owe him four dollars and seventy-eight cents, which you pay in cash, and balance the account accordingly.

The eighth is an account with a corn-field, containing five acres. It is made debtor for every expense incurred, such as manuring, plowing, harrowing, cultivating, planting, seed, hoeing, harvesting, threshing, marketing, and interest on the value of the land, and is credited for what the crop produces. The difference between the Dr. and Cr. sides of the account shows, of course, the gain or loss on the crop. The balance of this account shows a profit of forty-seven dollars fifty cents on five acres of corn.

The ninth is an account with Pork, and is made Dr. for every expense incurred, from the purchase of the hogs to the marketing, and is credited for what the pork produces. The balance of this account shows a profit of thirteen dollars thirty-four cents in fattening five hogs.

BOOK-KEEPING.

The tenth is an account with a wheatfield, containing ten acres. It is made Dr. for every expense incurred, from breaking up the ground to marketing, and Cr. for what it produced. The balance of this account shows a profit of seventy dollars twenty-two cents on ten acres of wheat.

The eleventh is an account with a potato-field, containing one acre. It is made Dr. for every expense incurred, from preparing the ground to marketing, and Cr. for what the crop produced. The balance of this account shows a profit of eighty-eight dollars fifty cents on one acre of potatoes.

The Farmer may keep an account with Cash on the same plan as the accounts on the preceding pages, by heading the account Cash, and making it Dr. To the person of whom, or thing for which it was received; and Cr. By the person to whom, or thing for which it was paid. If he has the curiosity to know exactly what he is making or losing by raising any particular crop, he may open an account with the field in which it is to be raised, making the field Dr. for the labor of plowing, dragging, sowing, harvesting, threshing, marketing, &c., and Cr. for what it produces; the difference will show his gain or loss.

In like manner, he may open an account with his farm, making it Dr. for all he puts on, such as horses, cattle, sheep, hogs, fowls, farming utensils, seed, labor, &c., and Cr. for all it produces, or that is taken off; the difference will show the gain or loss in carrying on his farm.

As soon as an account is opened in this form, the name and page on which it may be found should be entered in the index, so that it may more readily be referred to.

After becoming familiar with the foregoing instructions, the learner may next proceed to copy the accounts on the following pages into his blank book, leaving the balancing entries until he has added the debtor and credit columns, and subtracted the least from the greatest. Then, if he is right, he may make the balancing entries, and close the accounts. Always use a ruler in drawing the balancing lines, and exercise some taste in doing it neatly.

The foregoing account is with a merchant. On the left-hand page he is debited with every thing you have let him have, and on the right-hand page he is credited for every thing you have purchased of him. On the 31st day of December, 1848, you wish to settle this account, which is done in the following manner.

In the first place you add the sums in the money columns of the debit side of the account, and find they amount to forty-six dollars and fifty-nine cents, which is the sum total of all that you have let him have. You next add the sums in the money columns of the credit side, and find they amount to seventy-eight dollars and eighty-three cents, which is the

PRACTICAL EXERCISES.

FARMER'S FORM.

On the following pages will be found a Memorandum of the business transactions for the year 1850, which the learner may arrange in his blank book in the same manner as the accounts on the preceding pages. The names are not given, but the occupation, as merchant, blacksmith, shoemaker, tailor, &c. The learner may substitute for these the names of persons with whom he is acquainted, following these occupations. The price per yard, ounce, pound, ton, day, month, pair, piece, &c., is given, leaving the amount to be extended by the learner. He may also substitute the abbreviations, wherever they can be, in place of the whole word.

The accounts to be opened in this set are with a merchant, shoemaker, blacksmith, tailor, harness-maker, hired man, neighbor, cornfield, and wheatfield; and if the transactions are properly disposed of, the balances will show that I am indebted as follows:—To the shoemaker, $8.20; the hired man, $82.31; the harness-maker, $19.00; the blacksmith, $9.00; the merchant, $5.25. The tailor owes me $11.09; my neighbor owes me $1.25. Profit on 10 acres of corn, $79.83; do. on 15 acres of wheat, $185.08.

In addition to the above, the learner may open accounts with different fields of grain and other crops; and if he is a farmer, let him get the facts of actual experiments as near as possible, and see what branch of husbandry is the most profitable.

FORM FOR MECHANICS.

THE books, necessary in this form are the Day-book and Ledger. A Cash-book may be kept or not, at the option of the Book-keeper.

THE DAY-BOOK is a book in which all business transactions should be recorded at the time and in the order in which they occur. It is divided by perpendicular lines into seven spaces. The month occupies the first space; the day of the month, the second; the name of the person and the transaction, the third; the value of the items, in dollars and cents, the fourth and fifth; and their sum total, the sixth and seventh.

If, for example, on the first day of January, 1848, you sell Benjamin Hamilton the following articles:—One brass plated single harness for thirty dollars, one pair of halters for one dollar and seventy-five cents, and one riding bridle for one dollar and fifty cents—your Day-book entry would be as follows:

Lyons, January 1st, 1848.

Jan.	1 Benjamin Hamilton	Dr.
	To 1 Brass P. S. Harness		30	00
	" 1 Pr. Halters		1	75
	" 1 Riding Bridle		1	50	33 25

BOOK-KEEPING.

If you had purchased the same articles of Hamilton, all the difference in the entries would have been this: after the name on the first line, in the place of Dr. you should have written Cr.; and on the next line, in the place of To you should have written By.

Whenever it is necessary to repeat the date, or the word To or By, it may be done by placing two dots (thus, “) under the date or word to be repeated. One line should be left between every two entries.

The LEDGER is a book to which each person's account is transferred from the Day-book, and arranged on a page by itself. The name of such person should be written in a bold hand at the top of the page, with Dr. on the left and Cr. on the right.

Each page of the Ledger should be divided, by a double perpendicular line, into two equal parts; the one for the debtor, and the other for the creditor side of the account. Each of these parts should also be divided by perpendicular lines into six spaces; the first space for the month, the second for the day of the month, the third for the items, the fourth for the page of the Day-book on which the original entries were made, and the fifth and sixth for dollars and cents.

The first account to be opened in the Ledger is that of the person whose name stands first in the Day-book. As soon as it is opened it should be entered in the Alphabet.

The ALPHABET, or INDEX, is a small book in which are arranged, in alphabetical order, the names of all persons having accounts in the Ledger, together with the pages on which such accounts are entered.

POSTING BOOKS in this form, is collecting and transferring each person's account from the Day-book to its appropriate page in the Ledger. The entries recorded in the Day-book should be posted in the order in which they occur; that is, the first entry should be the first posted, and the second entry next, and so on until they are all posted.

Whenever there is more than one article charged or credited to an individual on the same page of the Day-book, the several sums should be added, and the amount entered in the Ledger, To, or By Sundries; but when there is but one article so charged, or credited, it may be specified in the Ledger.

On the first page of the Day-book you will find the name of Isaac H. Jameson, the first recorded. He is there, on the first day of January, 1848, made debtor for one set of double harness at twenty-six dollars, and one pair of halters at one dollar and seventy-five cents, the sum total is twenty-seven dollars seventy-five cents—on the second page, 13th day of January, for one halter strap at thirty-one cents, and mending tug thirteen cents, sum total forty-four cents—on the fourth page, 31st day of January, for repairing harness one dollar, one pair of tugs three dollars, one pair of tugs two dollars, sum total six dollars—on the sixth page, 28th day of January, for footing fine boots three dollars fifty cents, one pair of gaiters for wife two dollars, sum total five dollars fifty cents—on the eighth page, 10th day of March, for seventeen pounds of gate hinges, at thirteen cents per pound, two dollars twenty-one cents, shoeing horse one dollar, sum total three dollars twenty-one cents—on the ninth page, 27th day of March, for repairing threshing-machine four dollars seventy-five cents; and on the tenth page, 31st day of March, he is made credit for the amount of his account, thirteen dollars seventy-five cents, and his note to balance the account, thirty-three dollars and ninety cents; and should be posted as on the following page.

On that page, also, the same account is posted by figures, the small figures indicating the Day-Book page, and the large ones the amount of the entry transferred. When the line is filled, these sums are added, and the sum total extended into the money columns. This method of posting is adopted by some, because it occupies so much less space in the Ledger than the former. The learner, if he chooses, may practice both.

PRACTICAL EXERCISES.

The form on the preceding pages, although it is designated as the "Mechanic's Form," is, nevertheless, well adapted to the use of professional men and merchants; and from the fact that a majority of merchants, in the small villages throughout the country, keep their books after this form, we have thought best to give a Memorandum of the business transactions of a merchant for three months, requiring the pupil to record them in the Day-Book, post to the Ledger, and balance the accounts as in the preceding. The price per ounce, pound, gallon, yard, or piece, is given, leaving the amount to be extended by the learner; and if the above-described operation is correctly performed, it will be found, on balancing the books, that the following persons are indebted to you for the sums opposite each name—Hiram Mann, $39.42; Milton Seely, $42.71; Albert J. Hovey, $7.17; Charles R. Hecox, $4.49; William F. Ashley, $9.15; Ephraim B. Price, $6.43; Peter Brant, $17.63; William Walling, $7.52; Merrit Thornton, $23.03; John Messenger, $1.71; Alpheus Clark, $8.81; Samuel Weaver, $28.66; John Hancock, $12.63; Samuel Moore, $17.21; Nathan Brittan, $5.36; and you are indebted to Myron Holmes $2.32.

For manner of keeping Cash-Book, see page 146-148.

FORM FOR MERCHANTS.

THE principal Books of this Form are the Day-book or Blotter, the Journal, the Ledger, and Cash-book.

The DAY-BOOK and the manner of keeping it are the same as described in the second Form, with these exceptions: the manner and place of dating are different, and it is ruled with single money-columns instead of double.

A PETTY ALPHABET OR INDEX to the Day-book should also be kept, in which all the names entered in the Day-book during a month should be entered and alphabetically arranged.

This book should be commenced on the evening of the first business-day of each month, by writing in it all the names that were entered in the Day-book during the day, together with the pages on which such entries were made; and so every evening during the month, enter in the Alphabet all the new names that appear in the Day-book, with their pages; and if a name appears that has already been entered in the Alphabet, enter the number of the page on which it stands opposite such name. Whenever the name occurs more than once on the same page of the Day-book, it is indicated in the Alphabet by repeating the number of the page. A small cross (+) placed after the figure indicates that there is a credit-entry on that page in the Day-book.

The JOURNAL is a book into which all the items of each person's account are transferred from the Day-book, and so arranged that those for each month are collected together.

At the close of every month the Day-book should be journalized, which is done in the following manner: Transfer the first entry of the month, in the Day-book, to the Journal; then find the name thus transferred in the Alphabet, and if that has been kept as above directed, you will see on what pages of the Day-book this name again occurs; then turn to these pages in order, and transfer to the Journal all the items entered to this name, placing them under the name already entered there, with the dates, &c., keeping the debits and credits by themselves. After thus transferring them, place two parallel lines (thus //) opposite each entry on the Day-book, to indicate that they have been carried to the Journal. Proceed in the same manner with the next name in the Day-book, and so on until all is journalized.

After journalizing the month's transactions, the books should be compared to see if the accounts are correctly journalized; and if found correct, write in the Day-book, after the last entry for the month, Examined.

The LEDGER in this Form is a book in which a whole, or a part of a page, is appropriated to every account in the Journal.

This book is ruled like the Ledger of the second Form, but the lines which there separate the space for the day of the month from the month may be omitted.

AN ALPHABET or INDEX to the Ledger, like the one described in the second Form, is necessary.

At the close of the first month the Journal should be posted. But before this is done the Ledger (which we will suppose is new) should be paged, and the names of all the persons (including Stock, Cash, and Merchandise) with whom you have opened an account should be written at the top of the space appropriated to such account. These names, with Dr. on the left and Cr. on the right, should be written in a bold hand, and then should be alphabetically arranged in the Index, with the page of the Ledger on which they are recorded. The Journal should next be page-marked, which is done as follows: open to the first account in it, and then find in the Alphabet what page of the Ledger is appropriated to this account, and place the number of this page on the margin of the Journal, opposite such account. Proceed in the same manner until each account in the Journal is page-marked.

You are now prepared to post the books. Commence with the first account in the Journal; the figure in the margin shows the page of the Ledger appropriated to this account. Enter on the Dr. side of that page the month in the first space; "To Merchandise" in the wide space, the page of the Journal in the next, and the sum total of the debits in the two next spaces. Then if there are any credits to this account in the Journal, their sum total should be entered in the Ledger on the Cr. side in the same manner, except in the wide space write "By Cash," "By Merchandise," or "By Sundries," as the case may be. Then place two parallel oblique lines, one above and the other below the figure in the margin, to indicate that the account has been posted. Proceed in the same manner until each account in the Journal for the month has been posted. At the close of the next and the subsequent months, the Journal should be posted in the same manner as above described.

Every month, immediately after the Journal has been posted, it should be compared with the Ledger, to see if any mistakes have been made in posting. In order to facilitate this, it should be done by two persons. One should take the Journal, and commencing with the first account in the month, give its title and the page of the Ledger upon which it is posted, as indicated by the figures in the margin of the Journal; the other should then turn to this page in the Ledger, and see if it is correctly posted, while the first reads from the Journal the entry, amount, page, &c.

In comparing the books, if an account is found to have been overlooked, it of course should be posted immediately.

If an entry has been made on the wrong side of an account in the Ledger, it should not be erased, but the same amount should be entered on the opposite side of this account "To" or "By Error," and then the entry made as it should have been at first.

If an entry has been posted to the wrong account, the same amount should be entered on the opposite side of this account "To" or "By Error," and it should then be posted in its proper place.

When either the Day-Book, Journal, or Ledger is written full, its place is supplied by a new one, and the different books are usually designated by the first letters of the alphabet: the first day-book as Day-Book A; the second, Day-Book B: the first journal as Journal A; the second, Journal B: the first ledger as Ledger A; the second, Ledger B; the third, Ledger C, &c.

After writing the Day-Book for the months of January, February, and March, journalizing and posting it to the Ledger, the accounts may be balanced.

Balancing accounts is placing a sufficient sum on the least side of an account to make it equal with the greatest, and is done by adding the Dr. and Cr. columns, subtracting the least from the greatest, and making the account Dr. "To" or Cr. "By Balance" for the difference. The debit and credit sides will now foot alike. Next draw single lines opposite each other under these columns, and, after adding and placing the amount under them, draw double lines under the amount, to signify that the two sides are balanced and closed; then bring down the balance by making the account Dr. "To" or Cr. "By Balance" of old account. But if the Ledger is full, and you wish to transfer the account to a new one, let the balancing entry be "To" or "By Balance to Ledger B;" and in the new Ledger, "To" or "By Balance from Ledger A."

In the following set of books, after writing the Day-Book, journalizing and posting the three months' transactions, the books may be balanced, and the accounts transferred to a new Ledger.

PETTY CASH-BOOK.

This book should be ruled like the Journal, as in the form on the following pages. The word Cash should be written in a bold hand at the top of the page, near the centre, with Dr. over the left-hand money columns, and Cr. over the right.

The receipts of cash should be entered in the debit columns, and the disbursements in the credit columns, and balanced every night. For example, see the opposite page.

This book may be written on the last three or four pages of the Journal. For the purpose of making it more practical, I have given a narrative of the receipts and payments of cash, from the 10th to the close of the month, leaving it for the learner to enter it, in the proper form, in the Cash-Book, balancing and bringing down the balances every night.

For another form of this Cash-Book, see page 148.

Note.—It is often difficult to make pupils understand the propriety of making Cash debit when it is received, and credit when it is paid away.

This difficulty may be obviated by explaining to them the original meaning of the word Cash. The word originally signified Chest, or place where money was kept, instead of money itself. Now, if I placed all the money I received in a certain box, I could at any time tell by my books how much there was in it, if I made the box Dr. for all sums put into it, and Cr. for all sums taken out. Just so with Cash. Wherever I receive money, I put it in some place, and calling this place Cash, make it Dr. for the amount placed there, the same as I would a person, if I placed the money in his hands for safe-keeping. And so, whenever I take out any money from the place where I keep it, and pay it away, I give Cash credit for it. The difference, then, between the Dr. and Cr. sides of the Cash account thus kept, shows how much money I have on hand.

On the next page will be found another method of keeping the Cash-Book. Where the page is divided into two equal parts, and the Dr. and Cr. entries separated, and each placed on its appropriate side of the account, it is balanced every night, and the balance brought down. The learner may practice both forms, making use of the same transactions in this as in the preceding form.

PRACTICAL EXERCISES.

MERCHANT'S FORM.

For the purpose of giving a more practical knowledge of the foregoing form of books, we have given on the following pages a Memorandum of the transactions as they occurred, for the months of April, May, and June, giving the price per yard, pound, ounce, gallon, or piece, leaving the amount to be extended by the learner.

Before commencing the Day-Book, transfer the balances from the last Ledger to the new one, making the persons that are indebted to you debtor "To Balance from Ledger A," and the persons to whom you are indebted credit "By Balance from Ledger A," placing the number of the page from whence the account was transferred in the column appropriated for that purpose, so that, in case of necessity, the old account may be more readily referred to.

The transactions on the following pages may now be recorded in the blank Day-Book in the same manner as in the preceding form. After writing one month, Journalize and Post it according to the directions previously given.

If the balances of the accounts in Ledger A are properly transferred to Ledger B, and the transactions on the following pages correctly recorded, journalized, and posted, the accounts in Ledger B will, with the exception of the account of Levi S. Fulton, all balance.

The learner may, if he chooses, substitute his own name for that of Levi S. Fulton; and instead of Lyons, at the top of the page in the Day-Book and Journal, he may insert his own place of residence.

BILL OF PURCHASE

Is a statement of goods bought at one time, containing the items and prices. If paid at the time, it should be receipted and signed, as in the form on the opposite page; but if charged, in the place of Received Payment, write Charged in Account.

Bills of Purchase, or more properly Invoices, should be carefully examined, folded of a uniform width, and filed away; and as merchants generally purchase goods periodically, the date of purchase may be written on the band enclosing them. On the first day of January in each year, or at the time of balancing the books, the Invoices for the past year should be put into one package, and the year in which the purchases were made written on the band enclosing them.

All orders should be filed away in monthly packages, with the month written on the band enclosing them, so that when settling with an individual whom you have charged with goods per order, if he dispute your book you can immediately refer to the order.

Care should be taken to have all papers, intended to be filed away, folded of a uniform width, for the simple reason that they thus form neater packages.

BILL OF ACCOUNT

Is an accurate statement of an individual account, copied from the Day-book, containing a list of the items, the prices, and the date of each purchase. It is sometimes drawn off by the merchant and sent to the customer, and often at his request. If paid, it should be receipted and signed by the merchant, as in form page 164.

PART SECOND.

DOUBLE ENTRY BOOK-KEEPING.

DOUBLE ENTRY.

THIS term is derived from the fact that every business transaction recorded in the Day-book is entered twice in the Ledger—once on the debtor and once on the creditor side.

DEBTOR AND CREDITOR.

These terms are correlative, the one implies and involves the other. Wherever there is a debtor there must necessarily be a creditor of an equal amount; and wherever there is a creditor there must be a debtor, &c.

APPLICATION OF DEBTOR AND CREDITOR.

In single entry these terms are (with the exception of cash) only applied to persons, but in double entry they are applied alike to persons and property, the persons being made debtor for what you have trusted them, and creditor for what they have paid or trusted you; and the property accounts being made debtor for the value or cost of the property, and credit for what it produces when disposed of.

CLASSES OF ACCOUNTS.

There are three classes of accounts in Book-keeping, styled Personal, Real, and Fictitious. Personal accounts are the accounts of the persons with whom the merchant deals; Real accounts are the accounts of his property, and Fictitious accounts are titles invented to represent the merchant and his gains or losses in business.

DEFINITION OF BOOKS.

BOOKS USED.

The principal books used are the Day-book, Journal, and Ledger. The auxiliary books vary according to the nature of the business, and are the Cash-book, Bill-book, Invoice-book, Sales-book, Account-current book, Book of Shipments, Letter-book, Receipt-book, &c., &c.

DEFINITION OF BOOKS.

DAY-BOOK.

This book should contain a concise and comprehensive history of the merchant's business transactions; commencing with an inventory of his effects, and the debts due him, also of the debts due by him to others. After this his business transactions should be recorded at the time and in the order in which they occur; they should contain the date, the name of the person, the condition of the bargain, and price of the goods. In writing this book every thing should be clearly expressed in as uniform a style as possible, and the use of ambiguous words and phrases carefully avoided.

JOURNAL.

This is a book in which the business transactions recorded in the Day-book are prepared to be entered in the Ledger, by ascertaining the proper debits and credits of each transaction. This process is called journalizing.

LEDGER.

This is a book in which a page, or portion of one, is allowed for every account found in the Journal, with the name of the account written over the space so appropriated, to which the accounts are transferred from the Journal and placed under their respective heads. This process is called posting.

AUXILIARY BOOKS.

ALPHABET OR INDEX.

In order that the accounts in the Ledger may be more conveniently referred to, an alphabet or index is made by arranging the names of the accounts alphabetically, and placing opposite the name the number of the page on which the account may be found in the Ledger.

NOTE.—For the manner of ruling the above books, see pages 88 and 84

AUXILIARY BOOKS.

A merchant's account may all be kept in the Day-book, Journal, and Ledger; but in most kinds of business, for the sake of abridging these books, it is found convenient to have other books. These vary in number according to the nature of the business, and are termed auxiliary books, and are as follows:—

CASH-BOOK.—For definition and manner of keeping this book, see pages 144–148.

BILL-BOOK.—For definition, &c., see pages 156 and 157.

BANK-BOOK.—For definition, &c., see pages 158 and 159.

ACCOUNT-CURRENT BOOK.—For definition of Account Current, see pages 160 and 161. The Account-current book contains simply copies of these accounts.

ACCOUNT-SALES BOOK.—For definition of Account Sales, see page 161. The Account-sales book contains copies of these accounts.

SALES-BOOK.—This is a book in which all sales of goods are entered at the time they are sold. After a purchaser has made his selection of goods they should be entered in this book, from which his bill is copied. His name and the sum total of the sale are transferred to the Day-book.

INVOICE-BOOK.—This is a book in which are copied all bills of goods purchased. It is sometimes made of coarse paper and the original invoices pasted into it.

LETTER-BOOK.—This book contains copies of all business-letters.

DEFINITION AND OBJECT OF ACCOUNTS.

FICTITIOUS ACCOUNTS.

STOCK ACCOUNT represents the merchant, and is made Dr. for what he owes when he commences business, and Cr. for what he carries into business. The difference between the Dr. and Cr. of this account is his net capital.

PROFIT AND LOSS ACCOUNT is kept to show the gain or loss arising from business, and is made Dr. for all losses and Cr. for all gains. The difference between the Dr. and Cr. is the net gain.

INTEREST ACCOUNT is kept to show the gain or loss on interest. It is made Dr. for all sums paid for interest, and Cr. for all sums received for interest. The difference between the Dr. and Cr. shows the gain or loss on interest.

EXPENSE ACCOUNT is kept to show how much has been paid for store expenses, such as clerk hire, store rent, freight, cartage, portorage, postage, &c. For all such expenses this account is made Dr.; the Cr. side contains nothing until the Books are balanced.

REAL ACCOUNTS.

MERCHANDISE ACCOUNT. This account is kept to show the gain or loss on goods bought and sold. It is made Dr. for the value of Merchandise on hand commencing business, and for the amount of all subsequent purchases; and Cr. for the amount of all sales. If the Merchandise is all sold, the difference between the Dr. and Cr. will be the gain or loss on Merchandise. If the goods are not all sold, the value of the balance remaining unsold should be placed on the Cr. side, and the difference will then be the gain or loss.

REAL ESTATE ACCOUNT is kept to show the gain or loss on real estate. It is made Dr. for its cost—as purchase money, repairs, taxes, &c., and Cr. for what it produces, either in rent or sales. If it is not all sold, the value of what remains unsold should be placed on the Cr. side of the account. The difference between the Dr. and Cr. will be the gain or loss on real estate.

SHIPMENT OR CONSIGNMENT ACCOUNT is kept to show the gain or loss on property consigned by the merchant to some person to sell on his account and risk. It is made Dr. for what the consignment costs him, that is, the value of the goods, freight, insurance, &c., and is made Cr. for the net proceeds of the sales. The difference between the Dr. and Cr. of this account is the gain or loss.

JAMES HOLMES, CONSIGNMENT ACCOUNT, is kept when goods are consigned by him to the merchant to be sold on his account and risk. It is made Dr. for all expenses you incur on account of the consignment, and Cr. for the amount of all sales. The difference between the Dr. and Cr. of this account is the net proceeds, and should be placed to the Cr. of Holmes' personal account.

WHEAT ACCOUNT is kept to show the gain or loss on wheat as a separate branch of business. It is made Dr. for all sums paid for wheat, and Cr. for all sums received for wheat. The Dr. side of this account showing the cost and the Cr. side what it has sold for, the difference between the two sides will of course show the gain or loss on wheat.

CASH ACCOUNT is kept to show the receipts and disbursements of cash. It is made Dr. for all receipts of cash, and Cr. for all disbursements. The difference between the Dr. and Cr. of this account is the amount of cash on hand.

BANK ACCOUNT is kept to show what money is deposited in the bank. It is made Dr. for all sums deposited, and Cr. for all sums drawn out. The difference between the Dr. and Cr. of this account is the sum you have remaining in the bank.

BILLS RECEIVABLE ACCOUNT is kept to show the amount of written obligations which you hold against other persons for the payment of money. It is made Dr. for all such bills when they are received, and Cr. for all that have been redeemed. The difference between the Dr. and Cr. of this account shows the amount of Bills you hold against other persons.

BILLS PAYABLE ACCOUNT is kept to show the amount of

BOOK-KEEPING.

GENERAL RULE FOR JOURNALIZING.

THE thing received, or person trusted, is made Dr. "To" the thing parted with, or person who trusts you; and the thing parted with, or person who trusts you, is made Cr. "By" the thing received, or person trusted.

Profit and Loss is made Dr. for all losses, and Cr. for all gains. Every Dr. must have a Cr. of equal amount, and every Cr. must have a Dr. of equal amount.

TRIAL BALANCE.

The Trial Balance is taken to ascertain whether the Journal entries have been correctly transferred to the Ledger, and may be made as follows:—1st. Rule a sheet of paper with double money columns, and head it "Trial Balance," with Dr. over the left, and Cr. over the right hand money columns. 2d. Write the names of the Ledger accounts in the open space at the left, and, after adding the two sides of each account, place the amount of the Dr. side in the Dr. column, and the Cr. side in the Cr. column, opposite the name thus written. 3d. Add the Dr. and Cr. columns of the Trial Balance, and if they foot alike, the books are supposed to be correctly posted. This proof should be taken as often as once a month.

BALANCE SHEET.

Merchants as often as once, and sometimes twice, a year balance their Ledgers, and make out what is termed a Balance Sheet. This sheet exhibits, in a condensed form, a statement of their mercantile affairs, and forms the materials for opening a new set of books, containing on the Dr. side the debts due them, cash on hand, and the value of merchandise or other property remaining unsold; and on the Cr. side, the amount of their indebtedness to others. The difference between the two sides is of course their net capital.

Balance, in book-keeping, is the difference between the sums of the Dr. and Cr. sides of an account; and when that difference is placed on the deficient side, the account is said to be balanced—that is, the Dr. and Cr. sides are made equal; and when a single horizontal line is drawn across the money columns, and the sum total set down under each, and double parallel lines drawn under these sums, the account is said to be closed; and when the several accounts of the Ledger are thus made equal, and the lines drawn and sums set down as above described, and the balances transferred to the Balance Sheet, the Ledger is said to be balanced and closed.

DIRECTIONS FOR MAKING A BALANCE SHEET.

1st. Write "Balance Sheet" at the top of a page in the Ledger.

2d. Take an inventory of all property unsold, and make the accounts representing the property Cr. "By Balance" for the value of what remains unsold; then place the name of the account, and the same amount, on the Dr. side of the Balance Sheet.

3d. Ascertain what accounts show a gain or loss on the business, and balance these accounts "To" or "By Profit and Loss" for the difference; then turn to the "Profit and Loss" account, and enter the title of the account, and the amount, if a gain, on the Cr. side, or, if a loss, on the Dr. side of said account.

4th. Balance Private account and Profit and Loss "To" or "By Stock." If the Profit and Loss account shows a gain, carry it to the Cr. side; if a loss, to the Dr. side of the Stock account.

5th. Balance all other accounts, except Stock, "To" or "By Balance." If the Dr. side is the largest, make the account Cr. "By Balance" for the difference, and enter the name of the account, and the amount, on the Dr. side of the Balance Sheet; or if the Cr. side is the largest, make it Dr. "To Balance" for the difference, and enter the name of the account, and the amount, on the Cr. side of the Balance Sheet.

6th. Balance Stock account "To" or "By Balance" for the difference, and, if the operation of balancing is correctly performed, the balance of this account will exactly balance the Balance Sheet.

DOUBLE ENTRY.

THE books necessary for this form are the Day-Book, Journal, Ledger, Petty Cash-Book, Monthly Cash-Book, Merchandise-Book, Bank-Book, Bill-Book, and Expense-Book.

The Day-Book, Journal, Ledger, and Petty Cash-Book are the same as those in the "Merchant's Form," Single Entry; also the manner of journalizing and posting. For directions, see pages 69 to 72 inclusive.

Monthly Cash-Book is a book in which the sum total of the receipts and disbursements of cash are entered daily from the Petty Cash-Book; and at posting, the sum total for the month of the debits is transferred to the Dr. side, and the sum total of the credits to the Cr. side of the cash account, in the Ledger.

Merchandise-Book.—This book is kept to show the amount paid and received for merchandise. Both the Dr. and Cr. sides of this book are ruled with double money columns—for cash purchases, and credit purchases; and for cash sales, and credit sales. The amount of merchandise on hand commencing business, also the amount of merchandise purchased, should be entered, with the date, on the Dr. side of this book, "To Cash," "To Bills Payable," or "To Sundries," as the case may be; or if purchased on credit, make it Dr. to the individual of whom it was purchased.

If there should be several purchases on the same day, make it Dr. to "Sundries" for the sum total.

Every night, at the close of business, the amount of the cash sales for the day should be entered in the cash columns, on the Cr. side of this book. At the close of the month, the credit sales for each day should be added in the Day-Book, and entered in the left-hand margin of said book, opposite the date (being careful not to add any that are marked "Returned" in the margin); from thence transferred to the credit columns of the Cr. side of this book. At posting, the sum total of the debits should be transferred to the Dr. side, and the sum total of the credits to the Cr. side, of the Merchandise account in the Ledger.

At the time of balancing the books, by taking an inventory of the merchandise unsold, and placing its value to the Cr. side of the Merchandise account in the Ledger, the difference between the two sides of this account will show the gain or loss on merchandise.

BANK-BOOK.

This is a book usually given by banks to persons depositing money with them. On the Dr. side is entered all sums deposited, with the date and name of the individual by whom deposited. This is done by the receiving clerk. At the close of the month, the amount drawn out should be placed on the Cr. side, and the book balanced.

The sum total of the deposits for the month should be transferred to the Dr., and the amount checked out during the month to the Cr. side of the bank account in the Ledger.

BILLS RECEIVABLE.

All written obligations for the payment of money, which you hold against other individuals, are called Bills Receivable, and should be entered in this book when taken. At the time of posting the month's transactions, the amount of bills received during the month should be transferred to the Dr. side of the Bills Receivable account in the Ledger; and the amount of all such bills which have been redeemed should be transferred to the Cr. side of the same account.

BILLS PAYABLE.

All written obligations for the payment of money, which you give to other persons, are called Bills Payable, and should be entered in this book when given. At the time of posting the month's transactions, the amount of such bills given should be transferred to the Cr. side of Bills Payable account in the Ledger; and the amount of all such bills which have been redeemed should be transferred to the Dr. side of the same account.

For form of Bill-Book, see p. 156-7.

Expense-Book.—This is a book in which a memorandum is kept of all sums paid or incurred by the merchant in conducting his business; such as store rent, clerk hire, freight, cartage, portorage, postage, advertising, fuel, &c., &c. At the close of the month, the sum total of the expenses should be transferred to the Dr. side of the Expense account in the Ledger.

A memorandum of the transactions is given for the months of February and March, which the learner may record in the same manner as the month of January.

As this set of books is to be journalized the same as the "Merchant's Form," Single Entry, we have omitted the Journal entirely, leaving it for the learner to journalize for himself; and if he journalizes and posts correctly, his Ledger will agree with the Ledger in the book.

Note.—The sums to be posted from either the Cash-Book, Merchandise-Book, Bank-Book, Bill-Book, or Expense-Book, may, at the option of the book-keeper, be posted directly to the Ledger, or entered in the Journal, after the Day-Book has been journalized and posted from there to the Ledger.

PART THIRD.

BOOKS OF ACCOUNT.

It is a well-established and salutary rule, that a person shall not be permitted to testify for himself, or in other words, manufacture his own testimony. Yet there is an exception to this rule. From the necessity of some cases, the law allows a person to furnish testimony for himself, by admitting his books of account, under certain restrictions, as evidence in his favor.

Such testimony, however, is liable to the strictest scrutiny, and is considered by courts as the most suspicious kind, and as little better than the declarations of the party in his own favor.

To entitle a person's books to be received in evidence, he would have to prove the following facts.

1st. That he had no clerk.

2d. That the books produced are his account-books.

3d. That some of the articles charged have been delivered.

4th. That he keeps fair and honest accounts; and this he must show by those who have dealt and settled with him.

Account-books are not received as evidence of money lent, or money received or expended for the use of another; nor are they evidence of a single charge.

If the entries in a book were made by a clerk, and he be dead, on showing that fact, and proving his handwriting, and that he was a clerk of the party, such entries would be received as evidence.

BILLS OF EXCHANGE.

A Bill of Exchange is an open letter of request, addressed by one person to a second, desiring him to pay a sum of money to a third, or to any other to whom that third person shall order it to be paid; or it may be made payable to bearer.

Bills of Exchange are very useful to business men, who wish to send large sums of money to individuals living at a distance from them. "If A, living in New York, wishes to receive $1,000 which B, in London, owes him, he applies to C, who is going from New York to London, to pay him $1,000, and take his order or draft on B for that sum, payable at sight. A receives his debt by transferring it to C, who carries his money across the Atlantic, in the shape of a Bill of Exchange, without any danger or risk in the transportation; and on his arrival at London, he presents the bill to B and is paid."

The person who makes the bill is called the drawer; he to whom it is addressed, the drawee; and when he undertakes to pay the amount, he is then called the acceptor. The person to whom it is ordered to be paid is called the payee; and if he appoint another to receive the money, that other is called the endorsee, as the payee is, with respect to him, the endorser; any one who happens for the time to have the legal possession of the bill, is called the holder of it.

A bill is either foreign or inland. It is called foreign when drawn by a person in one state or country, upon one in another state or country; and inland, when both drawer and drawee reside in the same state. These are generally termed drafts.

Foreign bills are usually drawn in sets; that is, copies of the bill are made on separate pieces of paper, each part containing a condition that it shall continue payable only so long as the others remain unpaid. Whenever any one of a set is paid, the others are void; for the whole set constitute but one bill. The reason for drawing them in sets is, that in case one part is lost or accidentally destroyed, the other may be received by the drawee.

OF THE REQUISITES OF A BILL.

A Bill of Exchange must always be in writing. It is not necessary that it should be written in ink; it may be in pencil mark. No precise form of words is necessary. It will be sufficient if it contain an order or direction by one person to another, to pay money to a third. It must be for the payment of money, and money only; and the sum to be paid must be payable absolutely and at all events, and must not depend upon any circumstance that may, or may not happen; the exact sum also must be inserted. The place where, and on which it is drawn, should, in general, appear upon the face of the bill; there should also be a date, though its omission would not render the bill invalid. The time when bills are payable should be fixed; usually they are drawn payable at a certain time after date or after sight; that is, after acceptance.

It is not essential to the validity of a bill that it be negotiable, or that it contain the words "value received," although in many cases it is highly important that these words be inserted.

OF THE OBLIGATIONS OF PARTIES.

The drawer's undertaking in a Bill of Exchange is, that the drawee, upon due presentment to him, shall accept such bill, and pay the same when due; and that if the drawee do not accept it, or pay it when due, he will pay the amount of the bill to the holder, together with certain damages which the law allows; provided he is duly notified of such non-payment.

It is the payee's duty, if the bill remain in his possession, to present it to the drawee for acceptance and for payment at the proper time and place, and in case the drawee refuse to accept or pay, to give notice without delay to the drawer of such refusal. If the payee endorse the bill, his undertaking, in regard to all subsequent holders, is exactly the same as the drawer's.

The obligations of the endorsee or holder, are the same as those of the payee previous to his endorsing the bill.

The acceptor undertakes, and is bound to pay the bill, according to the tenor of the acceptance, when it becomes due, and upon due presentment thereof. In short, all those who have signed, accepted, or endorsed a bill of exchange, are jointly and severally liable upon it to the holder.

OF TRANSFER.

A bill which does not contain a direction or request to pay to the order of the payee or to the bearer, is not negotiable or transferable, so as to render the drawer or acceptor liable to the person to whom it is transferred, though the payee would be liable on his endorsing such a bill, and the endorsee could recover against him.

A bill which is made payable to order, is transferable only by endorsement; but if payable to bearer, it is transferable by mere delivery. Endorsements are of two kinds—blank, and full or special endorsements. A blank endorsement is made by the mere signature of the endorser on the back of the bill; and if it be the signature of the payee, its effect is to make the bill thereafter payable to bearer.

An endorsement in full expresses in whose favor the endorsement is made. Thus an endorsement in full by A. B. is usually in this form: "Pay C. D. or order," and signed "A. B." Its effect is to make the bill payable to C. D., or his order only.

An endorsee has a right to convert a blank endorsement into a special one, by writing over the signature the necessary words; and on the other hand he may convert a special into a blank endorsement, by striking out the words that made it an endorsement in full.

OF PRESENTMENT FOR ACCEPTANCE.

If a bill be drawn payable at sight, or at a certain period after sight, or after demand, it is absolutely necessary that the holder present it to the drawee for acceptance. For until such presentment there is no right of action against any party; and generally, unless it be made within a reasonable time, the holder loses his remedy against the antecedent parties.

OF ACCEPTANCE.

An Acceptance is an engagement by the drawee to pay the bill when due. It may be general or conditional, and either before or after the bill is drawn. It must be in writing, though no precise form is necessary; any written words clearly denoting an intention to accept the bill are sufficient.

The holder is entitled to require from the drawee an absolute engagement to pay according to the tenor of the bill, unencumbered with any condition or qualification. If the drawee refuse to give the holder a general and unqualified acceptance, he may treat the bill as dishonored.

A bill is said to be honored when it is duly accepted; and when acceptance or payment is refused, it is said to be dishonored.

OF PROCEEDINGS ON NON-ACCEPTANCE.

Immediately upon the dishonor of a bill, by the refusal of the drawee to accept it, it is in general the indispensable duty of the holder to have the bill duly protested, and notice of such dishonor and protest given to the antecedent parties to whom he intends to look for indemnity.

The protest is generally drawn up by a notary public; it is a solemn declaration against any loss to be sustained on the part of the holder by the non-acceptance or non-payment of the bill. In respect to inland bills a protest is not absolutely necessary, although it is usual; notice of their dishonor, however, must be given by the holder to the antecedent parties, in order to make them responsible.

Upon non-acceptance of a bill, if due notice thereof has been given to the antecedent parties, the holder can insist upon immediate payment of the bill from them.

BILLS OF EXCHANGE.

OF PRESENTMENT FOR PAYMENT.

If the bill has been duly accepted, it is the duty of the holder to present it to the acceptor for payment on the very day on which it becomes due; and if the bill was accepted payable at a particular place, the holder is bound to make a demand of payment at that place. For, if the holder neglect to present the bill at such time and place, he cannot recover against the drawer or endorser in case the acceptor refuses payment.

In determining when a bill becomes due, days of grace, as they are called, must be allowed. In this country three days grace are given on all bills except those payable on demand. Demand of payment must not be made, therefore, until the third day of grace, unless such day be Sunday, Fourth of July, or some other holiday, in which case demand must be made on the second day of grace.

OF PROCEEDINGS ON NON-PAYMENT.

The duties of the holder, upon dishonor of a bill by non-payment, are the same as upon dishonor by non-acceptance. He must make due protest for non-payment, and give due notice of the dishonor to the other parties to the bill; in which case the holder is entitled to a full satisfaction of all damages sustained by him by reason of the dishonor, against such other parties to the bill; but if he neglect to do this the antecedent parties are discharged from all liability to the holder.

OF PAYMENT AND OTHER DISCHARGES.

The acceptor being primarily liable on a bill of exchange, it is evident that a payment by him to the holder discharges all the other parties from liability on the bill, provided the payment is made without knowledge of any infirmity in the title of the holder, and the names of the parties to the bill are not forgeries. Payment by the acceptor should be made at maturity, and not before.

The drawer and endorsers will be discharged from liability by a valid and binding agreement (in which they do not concur) between the holder and acceptor, whereby time is given to the acceptor for the payment of the bill after it is due.

A discharge to the acceptor, we have seen, is a discharge to all the parties to the bill; but a discharge to an endorser is no discharge to the prior endorsers, though it is to the subsequent endorsers.

PROMISSORY NOTES.

A promissory note is an engagement in writing to pay a certain sum of money mentioned in it to a person named, or to his order, or to such person or bearer.

A note, in its original form of a promise from one person to pay a sum of money to another, bears no particular resemblance to a bill of exchange; but when it is endorsed there is a very great resemblance, for then it is an order by the endorser to the maker of the note, to pay the money to the endorsee. The endorser of the note corresponds to the drawer of the bill; the maker to the drawee or acceptor; and the endorsee to the payee. The rights and obligations of these corresponding parties are nearly or quite the same. It will not be necessary, therefore, to repeat all the rules that are applicable to, and govern the parties to a promissory note; we will, however, state the principal ones. And first, of the requisites of promissory notes.

No precise form of words is necessary to constitute a valid promissory note. A promise to account for a certain sum, or an acknowledgment of indebtedness for value received, is sufficient.

Like bills of exchange, they must be for the payment of money only, and not for the performance of some other act; and the amount to be paid must be fixed and not variable, and must not depend upon any contingency, but must be payable absolutely and at all events.

There should be no uncertainty as to the person by whom or to whom it is payable. Therefore a note payable to A. B., or to C. D., is not a valid promissory note.

A note payable to bearer generally, or to the payee or bearer, is transferable by mere delivery; and possession of such a note is prima facie proof of title. But if a note be drawn payable to the order of the payee, the title will pass only by the endorsement of the payee; and if the endorsement be in full, the title passes to the person named therein; but if it be in blank, it passes to the holder by delivery merely.

To make a note payable at a particular place, it is not sufficient that there be a memorandum of the place at the bottom or margin thereof, but it must be expressed in the body of the note itself, and form a part thereof.

The words "value received" are not essential to the validity of a promissory note, although they should be inserted.

A note may be made by two or more persons; and in that case may be joint, or joint and several, according to its form. The makers of a joint and several note may be sued upon it either jointly or separately; and if sued separately, a recovery of judgment (without satisfaction) against one will not be a bar to a recovery against another maker. But the makers of a joint note should be sued jointly; for if they are sued separately the action can be defeated by a plea in abatement of the non-joinder of the other maker or makers.

A note signed by two or more persons written thus, "We promise to pay, &c.," is a joint note only ; otherwise, if the words " jointly and severally " be added. A note written " I promise to pay," &c., signed by two or more persons, is a joint and several note.

If a person, at the time a negotiable note is made, write on the back of it, " I guaranty the payment of the within note," he will be treated as a joint and several promiser with the maker thereof, and not as a mere guarantor. But if the endorsement be made at a subsequent time, or be a guaranty of collection instead of payment, the endorser would be considered as a guarantor ; a consideration, however, in these last cases, must be expressed ; that is, the words " for value received " should be inserted in the endorsement.

If a note be endorsed thus, " For value received," or " For a valuable consideration, I guaranty the collection of the within note," the guarantor would not be liable upon it, unless the holder showed a diligent attempt to collect it.

An agreement for a valid consideration, extending to a principal the time of payment of a debt, discharges the sureties. But an agreement for delay, made without consideration, between the principal debtor and the creditor, will not discharge the surety ; nor will negligence of the creditor in calling upon the principal for payment discharge the surety, unless he be damnified by such negligence.

All who have signed or endorsed a note, are jointly and severally liable to the holder.

CONSIDERATION.

A valuable consideration is necessary to support a promissory note. A consideration founded in mere love or affection is not sufficient. Thus, a note drawn as a gift to a son or other relative, or to a friend, cannot be enforced as between the original parties.

A mere moral obligation, though coupled with an express promise, is not sufficient consideration to support a note. A consideration which the law esteems valuable must exist, in order to furnish a just foundation for an action.

A note will be void ; as between the original parties, if founded upon fraud or duress, or where undue advantage was taken to obtain it of the maker ; as, for instance, getting the maker intoxicated for the purpose of obtaining his note.

Illegal consideration also will render a note void ; as, when a note is given for the perpetration or concealment of a crime, or for a wager, or whenever the consideration is founded upon a transaction against sound morals, public policy, public rights, or public interests.

PROMISSORY NOTES.

There are, however, but two cases in which a note is void in the hands of an innocent endorser for a valuable consideration; and these cases are, when the consideration in the note is money won at a play, or where the note is given for a usurious debt.

OF PRESENTMENT FOR PAYMENT.

The contract of the maker being to pay the note upon due presentment at maturity, in order to charge the endorsers it is the duty of the holder to demand payment of the maker on the very day on which by law the note becomes due; and unless the demand be so made the holder loses his remedy, against the endorsers, although the maker would still be liable. The rules that were given to determine when bills of exchange become due apply as well to notes. Three days grace are allowed on all notes except those payable on demand, and those in which no time of payment is expressed; on such no days of grace are allowed.

When a note is made payable at any particular place, as, for instance, at a certain bank, due presentment must be made at that place in order to render the endorsers liable in case of non-payment. Notes payable at a particular bank, are generally left with that bank for payment.

If the note is payable generally, without any specification of place, the holder may present it for payment to the maker wherever he may be found; but it is not absolutely necessary that a personal demand be made; a demand at the maker's place of abode or business, is a good demand in some cases. The holder must use reasonable diligence in finding the maker, or his place of abode, or place of business, in order to charge the endorsers. But the maker is liable without such demand.

PROCEEDINGS ON NON-PAYMENT.

No protest is required to be made upon the dishonor of a note; although it is common to protest them for non-payment, especially in commercial towns. But in every case of the dishonor of a note, it is the duty of the holder to give due notice thereof to all the prior parties on the note to whom he means to look for payment; for the holder cannot recover against a party to whom he has failed to give due notice of the dishonor.

OF PAYMENT.

If the maker makes due payment of a note to a bona fide holder, it will amount to a complete discharge of all other parties thereto.

PROMISSORY NOTES.

But when payment is duly made by an endorser to the holder, such endorser, as a general rule, will retain his right to recover over against all the antecedent parties to the note, until he has received a full indemnity; such payment, however, will discharge all the endorser subsequent to himself.

INTEREST.

Interest is recoverable on a promissory note in which there is no special agreement to pay interest, from the time when the principal becomes due, or ought to have been paid. A note payable on demand carries no interest till a demand is made, either by suit or otherwise, unless there is an agreement to pay interest. A note not on demand, in which no time of payment is mentioned, draws interest from date.

Whenever there is a special agreement to pay interest, that is, when the words "with use," or "with interest," &c., are contained in the note, it draws interest, of course, according to such agreement or contract.

A note is said to be outlawed in six years from the time it becomes due. The statute requires that all actions founded upon any instrument or contract not under seal, must be commenced within six years next after the cause of action accrued, and not after.

CHATTEL NOTES.

We have seen that in order to constitute a promissory note it must be for the payment of money only; if then a note be payable otherwise than in money, it is called a chattel note. Chattel notes are not negotiable, and cannot be sued except in the name of the payee. No days of grace are allowed upon them.

It is the duty of the maker of a chattel note payable in specific articles, at a place mentioned in the note, to tender the articles at that place, and at the time the note becomes due. If the maker neglect to make such tender, he will be liable to the payee to pay him the amount of the note in money. But if, on the other hand, the maker tender the articles mentioned in the note, at the proper time and place, according to the contract, and the creditor neglects or refuses to receive them, the debt is thereby discharged; but the right of property in the articles tendered passes to the creditor. The debtor may abandon the goods tendered; but if he elects to retain possession of them, he will be considered as bailee of the creditor at his (the creditor's) risk and expense. The relation of debtor and creditor would in such case be changed to that of bailor and bailee.

There is a difference as to tender between portable and cumbrous articles. With respect to the former, a tender as above must be made; as to the latter, it will be sufficient if the debtor offer to deliver as the creditor shall direct.

CHECKS ON BANKS AND BANKERS.

A Check is a written order addressed to a bank, or to persons carrying on the business of bankers, by a person having money in their hands, requesting them, to pay to another person, or to his order, a certain sum of money mentioned in the check.

Checks differ from Bills of Exchange in the following respects:

- 1st. They are always drawn on a bank, or on bankers, and are payable immediately on presentment, without any days of grace.
- 2d. They require no acceptance as distinct from payment.
- 3d. They are always supposed to be drawn upon a previous deposit of funds.

In order to make the drawer liable, in case the check is dishonored,

BONDS.

A Bond is the acknowledgment, under seal, of a debt, duty, or obligation; and it is immaterial what mode of expression is used, provided the language be sufficient to establish an acknowledgment of a debt.

Every bond, in itself, imports a consideration; and a failure of the consideration is not a good defence to an action brought on the bond. Fraud, however, or an illegal consideration, will invalidate a bond.

CHATTEL MORTGAGES.

Wax, or some other tenacious substance, is necessary in order to make a legal seal, except it be the seal of a court or public officer.

COMMON FORM OF A BOND.

Know all men by these presents, that I, A. B., of the town of ———, in the county of ———, and State of New York, am held and firmly bound unto C. CHATTEL MORTGAGES.

Every mortgage, or conveyance intended to operate as a mortgage, of goods and chattels, which shall not be accompanied by an immediate delivery and continued change of possession of the things mortgaged, is absolutely void, as against the creditors of the mortgagor, subsequent purchasers, and mortgagees in good faith, unless the mortgage, or a true copy thereof, be filed in the office of the clerk of the town where the mortgagor resides at the time of the execution thereof.

Within thirty days next preceding the expiration of a year from the filing a chattel mortgage as aforesaid, a true copy of such mortgage, with a statement exhibiting the interest of the mortgagee in the property mortgaged, should again be filed with such clerk.

After default in the payment of a chattel mortgage the mortgagee's

POWER OF ATTORNEY.

A Letter, or Power of Attorney, is a written delegation of authority by which one person enables another to do an act for him.

When a power is special, and the authority limited, the attorney cannot bind his principal by any act in which he exceeds that authority; but the authority of the attorney will be so construed as to include all necessary means of executing it with effect.

When the power is in writing, and subject to the inspection of the party, no good reason exists for binding the principal beyond the scope of it; though in general he who employs an agent or attorney shall lose by his fraudulent or illegal acts, in preference to an innocent third person.

GENERAL FORM OF POWER OF ATTORNEY.

Know all men by these presents, that I, A. B., of —, in the county of —, and State of New York, have made, constituted, and appointed, and by these presents do make, constitute, and appoint C. DEEDS.

All instruments under seal are deeds; but the term "deed" is generally understood as applying to conveyances of land.

The consideration of a deed may either be good or valuable. A good consideration is founded upon natural love and affection between near relations by blood; a valuable consideration is founded on something deemed valuable, as money, goods, service, or marriage.

Every deed or contract is void when made for any fraudulent purpose or in violation of law.

Fulton & Eastman's Book-keeping.

A PRACTICAL SYSTEM OF BOOK-KEEPING.

BY LEVI S. FULTON & G. W. EASTMAN.

By Single and Double Entry.

Containing three distinct forms of Books, adapted for the Farmer, Mechanic and Merchant—to which is added a variety of useful forms for practical use viz.: Notes, Bills, Drafts, Receipts, &c., &c. Also a Compendium of Rules of Evidence applicable to Books of Account, and of Law in reference to the Collection of Promissory Notes, &c.

BOOK-KEEPING BLANKS. (Two Nos. in a set.)

Adapted to Fulton & Eastman's Book-keeping.

The use of these Blank Books will be found very important in familiarizing the scholar with the forms requisite to the keeping of accounts according to Fulton & Eastman's system.

"I have examined with much satisfaction Fulton & Eastman's System of Book-Keeping, and take pleasure in recommending its adoption to my immediate friends and others. It is simple and easily reduced to practice, and possesses a peculiar adaptation to the wants of the community for which it is designed. The plan for Merchants' Books, which I examined more critically than other portions of the work, is very neat, compact, and economical, and must ensure a great degree of accuracy in keeping accounts."—Elijah Bottom, Book-keeper for John M. French & Co., Rochester, N. Y.

"I have examined Messrs. Fulton & Eastman's 'Practical System of Book-Keeping' and am pleased with the work. As a branch of Education, Book-Keeping is well deserving a high estimation; and, I will add, there is none of equal importance and utility more generally neglected, particularly in our public schools. The work is plain, simple, and comprehensive, and well adapted to meet the wants of the business community. In many respects I deem it superior to any other work of the kind with which I am acquainted. I shall recommend it to the schools under my charge."—John T. Mackenzie, Town Superintendent.

"FULTON & EASTMAN'S BOOK-KEEPING.—We had supposed that, in the multiplicity of works on Book-Keeping, hardly any thing valuable remained to be suggested by later authors, should any such present themselves. But we have been convinced of our short-sightedness in examining the work with the above title, now before us. The work is principally designed for schools—for common schools—but should be in the hands of every Farmer, Mechanic, and Merchant in the land. It opens with a system of account-keeping for farmers, followed by one for mechanics, and this, in turn, by an admirable and comprehensive system of mercantile Book-keeping, which, for its simplicity, and time and labor saving properties, possesses advantages over all other systems with which we are acquainted."—Wayne Co. Whig.

"We are very much pleased with the design and execution of this work. It is exceedingly practical; being by single entry, containing three different forms of books, for the Farmer, the Merchant, and Mechanic. To these are added notes, bills, drafts, receipts, and a compendium of rules of evidence applicable to books of account, and of law in reference to the collection of promissory notes. A work of such a character, and of so much practical value, speaks for itself, and stands in need of no commendation from us to ensure it a large sale among all classes."—Albany Spectator.

"I should think it admirably adapted as a Text-Book for schools, and the study of it of much greater importance than it has hitherto been considered. I hardly know whether the Book is of more importance to scholars in school, or to Farmers, Mechanics or business men. The system, to which is added a variety of useful 'Forms,' which most business men have occasion to use more or less, is certainly well worth the price of the Book, to any man transacting business to the amount of twenty-four dollars a year."—E. L. Jones, Book-keeper, Michigan.

Fulton & Eastman's Penmanship.

FULTON & EASTMAN'S PENMANSHIP.

Illustrated and expeditiously taught by the Use of a Series of Chirographic Charts, a Key, and a set of School Writing-Books, appropriately ruled.

1. CHIROGRAPHIC CHARTS,

IN TWO NUMBERS. (Price $5.)

CHART No. I. Embraces Primary Exercises, and Elementary Principles in Writing.

CHART No. II. Embraces Elementary Principles for Capitals Combined, and Elementary Principles for Small Letters Combined.

2. KEY TO CHIROGRAPHIC CHARTS ;

Containing directions for the position at the desk, and manner of holding the pen.—Also for the exact forms and proportions of letters, with Rules for their execution. (Price 25 cents.)

3. SCHOOL WRITING-BOOKS,

IN FOUR NUMBERS. (Price 12½ cents each.)

"The undersigned, trustees of the Union District School of the town of Lyons, take this method of expressing their approval of 'Fulton's Principles of Penmanship.' They have seen the system in operation, during the past year, in the school with which they are connected, and are fully satisfied of its great superiority over all other systems heretofore used. The 'Chirographic Charts,' upon which are drawn in large size the different letters and parts of the letters of the alphabet, proportioned in accordance with the rules laid down by the author for the formation of each letter, and which, when suspended, can be seen from all parts of a school-room of ordinary size, they regard as an especial improvement upon, and advantage over, other modes of teaching this art."—From the Trustees of the Union School, Lyons, N. Y.

"Mr. Fulton's system I deem to be the best I ever saw, and I have no hesitation in recommending it. There is an exactness about Mr. F.'s method of teaching this art, which seems to defy the possibility of pupils becoming any thing but accomplished proficienta."—Jno. Whitehead, Commissioner of Public Schools for the city of Newark.

"Your theory and practice of Penmanship, which I have had several opportunities to see tested and applied, is, in my opinion, truly philosophical, and fully justifies the high estimate formed of it by all to whom it has been exhibited."—Rev. O. R. Howard, A. M., Late Principal of Fairfield Academy.

"It is with pleasure I inform you that your Chirographic Charts are in use in the Union School of this village, with admirable success. In my humble opinion, they must meet with universal approbation."—W. D. Stuart.

"We believe that Mr. Fulton is the first author who has attempted to teach the art of penmanship by rule. Heretofore, imitation has been almost the sole principle used to direct the student in acquiring a knowledge of chirography, and as every teacher has a system peculiar to himself, no uniform plan of instruction could be successfully introduced into our common schools. Mr. Fulton has rendered an essential service to the cause of education, in perfecting a system which does not, at every change of teacher, require a variation in the handwriting of the pupil."—Rochester Monthly Educator.

"Fulton & Eastman's charts are in use in the Union and Select Schools of this village, and also in other schools of this town and county, and with the happiest success. The scholars, charmed with the novelty which the system continually presents and the ease with which they master its principles, vie with each other in their efforts to excel, and are rewarded by acquiring a beautiful 'hand' and neat mechanical execution—and at the same time, the teacher is relieved from the perplexing practice of random teaching, so universal in our schools."—James M. Whitney, County Superintendent, Monroe Co., East Dist.

This little volume is well adapted to its purpose."—Vermont Chronicle.

II. NORTHEND'S AMERICAN SPEAKER.

"AMERICAN SPEAKER.—This is an admirable book—and as the exercise of declamation, of late, is considered essential to a good and finished education, and is introduced into our best schools as an important element, we hope that this volume of well-selected pieces, compiled with great care by the author from our best writers, will find its way into the hands of every school boy."—Rarnstable Patriot.

"AMERICAN SPEAKER, by Charles Northend, Principal of the Eppes School, Salem.—In this work, Mr. Northend seems perfectly to have accomplished the object he had in view. The selections are made with perfect taste, and afford an ample variety, to meet all occasions. Wherever a work of this description is wanted, this may be safely recommended, as possessing every desirable attribute. It is for sale by all our booksellers."—Salem (Mass.) Gazette.

"It is the best compilation of the kind we have ever examined. The selections are of a high character, and an elevated moral tone is prominent throughout the work. The book is divided into three parts—the first being composed of sixty-two prose exercises; the second, of thirty-four interesting dialogues; and the last, of seventy short poems. We hope this book will soon be extensively introduced into our schools. The author truly remarks in the preface, 'The advantages of frequent practice in speaking are so many and so great, that it should receive more prominence in all our schools.'"—Salem (Mass.) Advertiser.

III. NORTHEND'S SCHOOL DIALOGUES.

"The character of the author of this work is a guarantee that it is a book of good practical common sense—one that will take hold of the youthful mind, and delight and interest it. A cursory examination has fully confirmed us in this favorable opinion. The author has selected such dialogues as contain good sentiments, and such as will have a salutary influence on the mind of the young."—Teacher's Advocate.

"The selections manifest an intimate knowledge of the wants of the young, a scrupulous regard to the sentiments inculcated, and an eye to combined instruction and amusement. They are preferable to any other books of the same character with which we are acquainted, from the greater variety of the selections, and from their being suited to a considerable extent from the works of modern authors. Children tire of old, threadbare pieces, however good they may be; and novelty has ever for them peculiar attraction."—Gloucester Times.

CHAMBERS' EDUCATIONAL COURSE.

THE SCIENTIFIC SECTION.

The Messrs. Chambers have employed the first professors in Scotland in the preparation of these works. They are now offered to the schools of the United States, under the American revision of D. M. RUSSELL, M. D., LL. D., late Superintendent of Public Schools in the city and county of New York.

"It is well known that the original publishers of these works (the Messrs. Chambers of Edinburgh) are able to command the best talent in the preparation of their books, and that it is their practice to deal faithfully with the public. This series will not disappoint the reasonable expectations thus excited. They are elementary works prepared by authors in every way capable of doing justice to their respective undertakings, and who have evidently bestowed upon them the necessary time and labor to adapt them to their purpose. We recommend them to teachers and parents with confidence. If not introduced as class-books in the school, they may be used to excellent advantage in general exercises, and occasional class exercises, for which every teacher ought to provide himself with an ample store of materials. The volumes may be had separately; and the one first named, in the hands of a teacher of the younger classes, might furnish an inexhaustible fund of amusement and instruction. Together, they would constitute a rich treasure to a family of intelligent children, and impart a thirst for knowledge."—Vermont Chronicle.

"Of all the numerous works of this class that have been published, there are none that have acquired a more thoroughly deserved and high reputation than this series. The Chambers, of Edinburgh, well known as the careful and intelligent publishers of a vast number of works of much importance in the educational world, are the fathers of this series of books, and the American editor has exercised an unusual degree of judgment in their preparation for the use of schools as well as private families in this country."—Philad. Bulletin.

"The titles furnish a key to the contents, and it is only necessary for us to say, that the material of each volume is admirably worked up, presenting with sufficient fulness and with much clearness of method the several subjects which are treated."—Chic. Gazette.

"We notice these works, not merely because they are school books, but for the purpose of expressing our thanks, as the 'advocate' of the educational interests of the people and their children, to the enterprising publishers of these and many other valuable works of the same character, the tendency of which is to diffuse useful knowledge throughout the masses, for the good work they are doing, and the hope that their award may be commensurate with their deserts."—Maine School Advocate.

The Hon. Sen. Webster says, of an early edition of the above work, in a letter to the author, "I KEEP IT NEAR ME, AS A BOOK OF REFERENCE, ACCURATE IN FACTS AND DATES."

"THE COMMITTEE ON BOOKS OF THE WARD SCHOOL ASSOCIATION RESPECTFULLY REPORT:

"That they have examined Mrs. Willard's History of the United States with peculiar interest, and are free to say, that it is in their opinion decidedly the best treatise on this interesting subject that they have seen. As a school-book, its proper place is among the first. The language is remarkable for simplicity, perspicuity, and neatness; youth could not be trained to a better taste for language than this is calculated to impart. It places at once, in the hands of American youth, the history of their country from the day of its discovery to the present time, and exhibits a clear arrangement of all the great and good deeds of their ancestors, of which they now enjoy the benefits, and inherit the renown. The struggles, sufferings, firmness, and piety of the first settlers are delineated with a masterly hand."—Extract from a Report of the Ward School Teachers' Association of the City of New York.

"We consider the work a remarkable one, in that it forms the best book for general reading and reference published, and at the same time has no equal, in our opinion, as a text-book. On this latter point, the profession which its author has so long followed with such signal success, rendered her peculiarly a fitting person to prepare a text-book."—Boston Traveller.

"MRS. WILLARD'S SCHOOL HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES.—It is one of those rare things, a good school-book; infinitely better than any of the United States Histories used for schools, which we have at present."—Cincinnati Gazette.

"We think we are warranted in saying, that it is better adapted to meet the want of our schools and academies in which history is pursued, than any other work of the kind now before the public. The style is perspicuous and flowing, and the prominent points of our history are presented in such a manner as to make a deep and lasting impression on the mind. We could conscientiously say much more in praise of this work, but must content ourselves by heartily commending it to the attention of those who are anxious to find a good text-book of American history for the use of schools."—Warburton Watchman.

Zachos' New American Speaker.

THE NEW AMERICAN SPEAKER;

A COLLECTION OF

ORATORICAL AND DRAMATICAL PIECES, SOLILOQUIES, AND DIALOGUES

WITH AN INTRODUCTORY ESSAY ON THE ELEMENTS OF ELOCUTION.

Designed for the use of Schools, Academies, and Colleges.

BY J. C. ZACHOS.

WITH ILLUSTRATIONS OF ORATORICAL AND DRAMATICAL GESTURES.

1 vol. 12mo. $1 25.

Professor Zachos was induced to prepare this excellent Manual of Oratory from the fact, that, among the numerous works of the kind now in use, none have been found adequate to the wants of students of oratory and dramatic expression.

The New American Speaker has already been introduced into several of our first schools. From the many favorable notices of the work, we give the following, to show

WHAT IS THOUGHT OF IT.

Of the many books of the kind, we pronounce the New American Speaker the best we have ever seen. The selections are numerous and excellent, embracing a much greater variety, and manifesting a better judgment, than other works of a similar character.—Citizen.

This is a work which for its purpose has no superior. The selections appear to us tasteful and elegant. They are certainly made from authors of high classical reputation. Copious in matter, tasteful in style, and clearly and handsomely printed, it is a book, we apprehend, that will supersede all others in the class and exhibition room, and become a general favorite with both teachers and students.—Literary Advertiser.

Many of these selections [from Shakespeare and British orators], Mr. Zachos has had the good sense and good taste to retain, and has presented them with others of more recent date, so as to make what we consider one of the best books of the kind now before the public.—Atlas.

By far the most complete Manual of Oratory ever published. We cannot speak in terms too high of the New American Speaker.—Enquirer.

Mr. Zachos, who is well and favorably known here as a teacher of more than ordinary acquirements and zeal in his profession, has shown taste and judgment, as well as great care, in the compilation of his New American Speaker, which contains many entirely new selections from the best modern writers, English and American, and which is, therefore, the best book of the kind now in market.—Times.

CLARK'S NEW ENGLISH GRAMMAR.

A Practical Grammar, in which WORDS, PHRASES, and SENTENCES are classified, according to their offices, and their relation to each other: illustrated by a complete system of Diagrams. By S. W. CLARK, A. M. Price 50 cts.

"It is a most capital work, and well calculated, if we mistake not, to supersede, even in our best schools, works of much loftier pretension. The peculiarity of its method grew out of the best practice of its author (as he himself assures us in its preface) while engaged in communicating the science to an adult class; and his success was fully commensurate with the happy and philosophic design he has unfolded."—Railway Register.

"This new work strikes us very favorably. Its deviations from older books of the kind are generally judicious and often important. We wish teachers would examine it."—New York Tribune.

"It is prepared upon a new plan, to meet difficulties which the author has encountered in practical instruction. Grammar and the structure of language are taught throughout by analysis, and in a way which renders their acquisition easy and satisfactory. From the slight examination, which is all we have been able to give it, we are convinced it has points of very decided superiority over any of the elementary works in common use. We commend it to the attention of all who are engaged in instruction."—New York Courier and Enquirer.

"From a thorough examination of your method of teaching the English language, I am prepared to give it my unqualified approbation. It is a plan original and beautiful—well adapted to the capacities of learners of every age and stage of advancement."—A. R. Simmons, Ex-Superintendent of Bristol.

"I have, under my immediate instruction in English Grammar, a class of more than fifty ladies and gentlemen from the Teachers' Department, who, having studied the grammars in common use, concur with me in expressing a decided preference for 'Clark's New Grammar,' which we have used as a text-book since its publication, and which will be retained as such in this school hereafter."—Professor Brittan, Principal of Lyons Union School.

"Clark's Grammar I have never seen equalled for practicability, which is of the utmost importance in all school-books."—S. B. Clark, Principal of Scarborough Academy, Maine.

"The Grammar is just such a book as I wanted, and I shall make it the text-book in my school."—William Brickley, Teacher at Canastota, N. Y.

"This original production will, doubtless, become an indispensable auxiliary to restore the English language to its appropriate rank in our systems of education. After a cursory perusal of its contents, we are tempted to assert that it foretells the dawn of a brighter age to our mother tongue."—Southern Literary Gazette.

"I have examined your work on Grammar, and do not hesitate to pronounce it superior to any work with which I am acquainted. I shall introduce it into the Mount Morris Union School at the first proper opportunity."—H. G. Winslow, A. M., Principal of Mount Morris Union School.

"Professor Clark's new work on Grammar, containing Diagrams illustrative of his system, is, in my opinion, a most excellent treatise on 'the Science of the English Language.' The author has studiously and properly excluded from his book the technicalities, jargon, and ambiguity which so often render attempts to teach grammar unpleasant, if not impracticable. The inductive plan which he has adopted, and of which he is, in teaching grammar, the originator, is admirably adapted to the great purposes of both teaching and learning the important science of our language."—S. N. Sweet, Author of "Sweet's Elocution".
